(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Calif., July 2.—The democratic platform was submitted to the party's national convention today by Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, chairman of the resolutions committee.

Its outstanding features are:
1—Complete silence upon the wet and dry question.

2—Emphatic endorsement of the league of nations covenant with a demand for prompt ratification without nullifying reservations, but with an expression of willingness to accept reservations clarifying the covenant or making it more specific with respect to American obligations.

3—A simple expression of sympathy for the Irish aspirants without reference to American recognition.

4—Rejection of the amended plank recommending the acceptance by the United States of the mandate for Armenia.

5—Pledges of support for American veterans of the world war in the form of memorials and homes but no promise of money bonuses.

6—Strong points on labor, agriculture, the interests of women and woman's suffrage.

The platform was probably in thorough accordance with President Wilson's views excepting on the league of nations and the Armenian mandate.

Commendation of the league of nations covenant coupled with condemnation of the republican attitude was so sweeping, the administration leader declared that Sen. Walsh's Continued on Page Six

BRYAN, HOBSON PLAN FIGHT FOR DRY PLANK

Meet Beneath Rostrum While Secretary Glass Reads Platform to Convention Today

THEIR COURSE UNDECIDED

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Calif., July 2.—While Senator Glass today read to the democratic convention the platform submitted by the resolutions committee, William Jennings Bryan and Richmond P. Hobson, dry leaders, conferred beneath the rostrum on plans for the final plank fight on the convention floor.

It is understood that the dry strategy now provides that Hobson will not offer an amendment to the report of the resolutions committee against a possible substitute from the opposing camp. It was expected that Bryan then would offer a substitute for Hobson's amendment, one of his own embodying a bone dry plank. It was understood that Bryan was prepared to speak for one hour on the dry demands.

Bryan indicated following the consultation that he would be guided by the situation at the moment and that he might finally decide to offer a minority report if it appeared a better plan.

BULLETIN

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Calif., July 2.—Following Glass' conclusion of the reading of the platform, the chair then recognized William Jennings Bryan. The crowd was insistent and yelled "Bryan, Bryan."

Senator Robinson and Glass stood on the platform joking with each other and waited for the noise to cease.

Glass then moved adoption without modification of the committee's report.

The chair then recognized Bryan.

Bryan walked to the rostrum with eyes gleaming. The galleries cheered riotously but there was no noise or excitement among the delegates.

Bryan waited for the noise to cease.

"Ladies and Gentlemen," Bryan began.

"You have listened to one of the strongest platforms ever placed before the country by any convention in the nation's history. It is clear in statement and does credit to those responsible for drafting it. Fifty-two members of the resolutions committee met and for many hours compared views and exchanged opinions.

"Never for a moment disagreeing in the purpose that brought them together. One thought, however, rose above all others. That was, 'How can we bring success to the only party that is capable of meeting the exigencies of the present hours.'"

"If we had not been democrats we might have been afraid to express our individual opinion. The democrats are expected to think and then give their conferees the results of their thinking. In these conferences we usually reach some common cause. When we can agree we rejoice. When we cannot we respect each other's opinion.

"I cannot endorse all written in this platform."

Then cries of "take it all," and "take a drink of water" arose from the crowd.

NONE IS ABLE TO WIN WITHOUT HELP

Not a Single Democratic Candidate
For President Can be Nominated
on Present Line-up.

McADOO IS EXPECTED TO LEAD

Attorney General Palmer is Picked
as a Close Second and Gov.
Cox a Poor Third.

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Calif., July 2.—With the business of selecting a democratic presidential nominee finally in sight, developments revealed that none of the candidates has sufficient strength to win unaided.

From a reliable source it was learned that the best William G. McAdoo can possibly do is to roll up on the first ballot a vote of 600, more than 100 short of a choice.

Attorney General Palmer is expected to attain a maximum individual strength around 500 and Governor Cox about 400.

These figures are overlapping because a great amount of the second choice of each of the leading candidates is held by the other two and none may obtain his full quota of delegates until one or both of his principal rivals have begun to lose ground.

Political observers believe that McAdoo would lead from the first ballot with Palmer a close second and Cox a poor third.

Each is expected to increase their vote until the sixth ballot when it is expected that Attorney General Palmer would reach his limit.

W. G. McADOO

Mr. McAdoo is expected to lead on the first ballot cast for president at the democratic national convention in San Francisco.

THREE CENT TRACTION FAIR GOES IN EFFECT

I. & C. Passenger Rate, Granted by
Public Service Commission,
Same as Steam Roads

AN INCREASE OF A FEW CENTS

The new passenger rates on the Indianapolis and Cincinnati traction line went into effect yesterday, the company having been granted a three cent a mile rate a few weeks ago by the Public Service Commission of Indiana, along with two other Indiana electric lines. The increase brings the three companies on a parity with the steam lines.

Under the new rates no round trip tickets are sold, and the fare between Rushville and Indianapolis is $1.29 each way, or an increase of eight cents. The new fare between here and Connersville is 56 cents, or an increase of four cents. Heretofore the three traction companies had based their fare on a 2 and 3 cents a mile basis.

The I. & C. rate and the C. I. & W. railroad between here and Indianapolis are now the same at $1.29 but between here and Connersville the steam line is 58 cents, or two cents higher than the electric line.

FINNEY EXPLAINS BICYCLE INCIDENT

Dealer Confirms Story That he Called on "Doug" Driver to Return his Wheel

HAD TO APPLY TO THE MAYOR

Says Driver Told Him Policeman
Pea Said He Could Have it—
Accepts Pea's Version

Sam Finney, proprietor of a bicycle shop, whose bicycle was taken by Clarence (Doug) Driver and was recovered after Mr. Finney appealed to Mayor Irvin, today issued a statement in which he explained the circumstances and confirmed the story printed in the Daily Republican yesterday evening.

Policeman Pea, who was alleged to have told Driver that he could have the bicycle, demanded a retraction from Mr. Finney, declaring it appeared that he had stolen the bicycle. Appended to the statement was an explanation of the incident by Mr. Finney.

"I lose a bicycle from in front of my store," he says. "I hear Clarence Driver (hereafter called Doug) has it. I make a demand for the wheel of Doug. Doug refuses, stating that Mr. Pea told him he could have it. I apply to the mayor and the wheel is returned. Mr. Pea and Mr. Wilfong with Doug call on me. The Republican prints the incident as they hear it. Mr. Pea calls on me and demands a retraction. I try to make a proper retraction."

July 1, 1920
Rushville, Ind.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
Charley Pea called on me at my place of business shortly after six o'clock on the above date and wanted to know if I gave the Republican the account published in it. I told him that he would have to get a paper and let me see the article.

After reading the article I told him that it was about right as I remembered and understood the affairs, with the exception of the last few lines in which it stated that the officers wanted him to tell certain things.

Mr. Pea then said that Doug told me (when the police and Doug called on me) that he, (Doug) took the wheel of his own accord and that he had proof of it as he had brought Mr. Wilfong along for that purpose.

Doug may have said so but if he did I did not hear it or did not understand it so, which I told Mr. Pea and reminded him that Doug had in the same statement or conversation stated that it was for turning out the lights.

Mr. Pea stated that Doug had never turned out the lights but had helped turn them on; that Doug was a half-wit and that his word was no good and that he was not responsible that he could not even be convicted if he committed murder; that the article in the paper made him (Pea) responsible and he wanted it understood that he (Mr. Pea) was no thief; that if the statement was not retracted tomorrow that he would file an indictment against some one the following day.

At this time I had to call Mr. Pea about profanity and he asked me Continued on Page Six

TWO COMMANDERS HONORED

Perry O'Neal and Ross Hutchinson
Chosen For Legion Places

Perry O'Neal, commander of Rush Post of the American Legion of this city, and Ross Hutchinson, commander of the George L. Posey post at Arlington, were honored at the state convention of the Legion held in Vincennes this week.

Mr. O'Neal was elected as sixth district representative on the state executive committee and Mr. Hutchinson was chosen as an alternate delegate-at-large to the national convention of the Legion which will be held at Cleveland, Ohio, September 27, 28 and 29.

Such recognition being given Rush county was regarded as unusual because both positions are important in the state organization.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN

Mr. Bryan will make a fight on the floor at the democratic national convention for a dry plank in the platform.

DENY CHARGE OF HEALTH INSPECTOR

Frank Wallace and Charles Dixon
Says Havens Tries to Throw
Business to Others

DIDN'T POSE AS INSPECTORS

Frank Wallace and Charles Dixon the two men who were accused by Frank Havens, city health inspector, of having posed as health inspectors in order to compel property owners to have unsanitary vaults cleaned today denied the accusation, and declared that Inspector Havens had told them that he did not give the story to the Republican, as printed yesterday.

When confronted by a Republican reporter today, Mr. Havens did not deny being authority for the story, but said that Dixon and Wallace did not clean properly the vault which was mentioned yesterday until after the story appeared in the Republican last night.

Dixon and Wallace asserted that Havens was trying to throw all of the business to Will West, who recently moved here from Greensburg, and that he made the statement to the Republican to injure them. They stated that they had been in the business for ten or twelve years and that no complaints had ever been made regarding their work.

"KATCHA-KOO" IS PRONOUNCED BEST

Oriental Production, To be Repeated
Tonight, Sets New Mark For
Home Talent Shows

THE AUDITORIUM IS CROWDED

Minor Characters Play Parts Equally
as Well as Principals—Play
Moves Like Clock Work

Anyone in Rushville who misses their last chance tonight to attend "Katcha-Koo," will miss a rare treat.

The first performance last night in the Graham Annex brought out more praise than any home talent show given in this city for many years. People in fact were more pleased, because it was far above the average home talent production.

In all over 250 people had part in the play, the minor characters playing their parts equally as well as the principals, with everything going off like clock work, and without a single hitch.

Katcha-Koo, (Lee Endres) was an immovable being, who brought terror to all of his followers, and wrought curses upon any who touched or slandered him. They called him a holy fakir and his followers and people were afraid of his curses.

With this scene laid in India, there appears two American explorers, Dick and Harry, (Denning Havens and John K. Tompkins), and a terrible mess is stirred up when the Maharajah of Hunga (Bob Gilsey) condemns them to be poisoned and thrown to the lions because they had interfered with the sacred Katcha-Koo.

In a state of despair the two Americans seek help from Sojah, a widow of a wizard, (Lavienna Compton), who tells them that there is only one way to get out of the clutches of Katcha-Koo, and she produces a bag of mystic clothes, when worn by a person they may be commanded to do anything.

The two Americans take the garments and the immovable Katcha-Koo is transformed from a stationary object into a lively American, talkative and abounding in his love for the women. The mystic clothes, with the bright red vest, had done the work.

Before the play had proceeded very far this affections for all of the women, including the four wives of the Maharajah, Mrs. Chatti-Gaddin, an American widow (Katherine Wyatt) and her two daughters (Mary Jane Carr and Gladys Bebout) and several others, was a worry, in his manner of shaking the men and luring the women was one of much annoyance for the men.

In the second act the scene was shifted to America, with all of the Oriental characters, and the sentences of the Maharajah was still upon them, because Katcha-Koo had overdone the thing. To release them from the punishment of the poison and lions the two Americans would have to put Katcha-Koo back into his former stationary state.

The manner in which this was attempted was full of laughter and funny incidents, as the bright red vest was thought to be responsible for his actions, and it was the plan to get the vest from him.

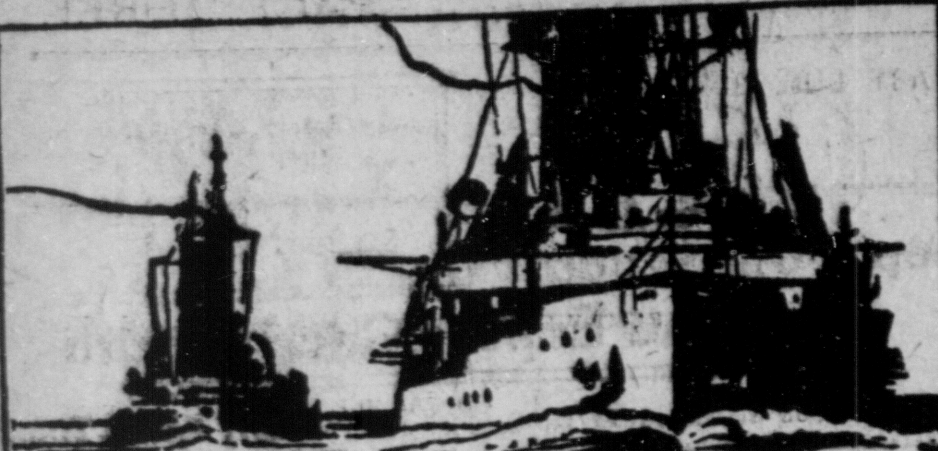

When the vest was removed, it was found that Katcha-Koo was a holy fakir in disguise, and was recognized by his wife, Mrs. Chatti-Gadden the American widow.

It would be impossible to do the play justice and it would tend to spoil many surprises that the people tonight will receive when they attend the show, if the plot were all revealed.

The music and songs were well carried out, and the best vocal talent in the city took part, both in solo work and in the choruses.

The dances too, which were in every scene, showed perfect practice and won the most hearty applause from the audience. A group of veil dancers, featuring Alice Slaughter of Denver, Colo., was among the prettiest dances.

The grand finale was superb, with over 250 characters on the stage, with the front row lines across with over 50 small children, centered by Continued on Page Six

CHILDREN LEAVE SCHOOL FOR WORK

One Million Children March Out of School to Become Wage Earners Says U. S. Department of Labor

BEGIN AN AIMLESS SEARCH.

These Conditions, Bulletin Says, Call For Some Organization to Guide The Children

"What next?" is the question that thousands of bewildered children have been asking during the past week as the school doors closed behind them for the last time. An army of over 1,000,000 children between 14 and 16 years old, says the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, marches out of the schools each year to become wage earners. In a pamphlet entitled "Advising Children in Their Choice of Occupation and Supervising the Working Child" the Bureau tells what happens to these children and offers suggestions for helping them get the proper start in life.

Only a few children according to the pamphlet, receive any help from their parents in finding suitable openings because parents do not know what opportunities are open to boys and girls, how to go about finding them, or what is the best thing for a child to do. The children begin an aimless search, making the rounds of factories, shops and offices, and answering advertisements. More than nine-tenths of them go into "blind-alley" jobs that require no skill and offer no opportunity to get ahead. Many drift from job to job, and become incapable of steady work. Some find work for which they are physically unfitted, sometimes to the permanent injury of their health. Some are without any employment for a time, since in many States the law does not require a child under 16 to have a job before he is excused from school.

These conditions, the bulletin points out call for some organization in the schools, or in connection with the schools, to tell children what and where the jobs are, and what training and ability are required to fill them. While most vocational guidance and placement work in this country has been started by private organizations, it has been taken over in a number of cities by the schools. England's experience with her juvenile-labor exchanges shows that the most successful work is done in close cooperation with the school. In Austria where vocational guidance is now receiving special attention a careful study is being made of how to link up the work with the school system.

In school placement bureaus the child applying for work may be reached before leaving school and in many cases persuaded to remain, or provided with a scholarship to enable him to do so. In one city from 25 to 30 percent of the children who come to the placement bureau are returned to school. The placement bureau in this school is a connecting link between the school room and the industrial or business world. It keeps in close touch with local industries and opportunities and helps to make school work more practical.

The placement bureau endeavors to place the child in work for which he seems best fitted and which offers the most promising future even if parents to give up a job that offers that means persuading him and his a higher wage at the beginning. It attempts to keep in constant touch with the child after he has gone to work in order to learn whether he has been suitably placed and to help him adjust himself. Although no general schemes have so far been devised in this country for supervising the child at work, the requirement in some states that a child must secure a new employment certificate each time he changes his job offers opportunity for effective supervision.

Any scheme for placement and supervision of working children should, the bulletin states, include provision for further training through compulsory day-time continuation classes.

a motor car that would combine light weight, economy and comfort? Light in weight, but also comfortable riding. Light weight means economy in a motor car if the construction is right. The car, however, that is of the weight that makes for economy and is also easy riding is the exception. The with its wonderfully smooth riding triplex springs and its Marshall cushion upholstery offers you the advantage of driving a very comfortable riding car in addition to a light, weight economical car.

Gagging Postal Employees

An attempt to establish "gag" rule is the interpretation which postal employees have placed upon a notice which has been posted in federal buildings throughout the country. The notice was posted on June 12, the day the political campaign was really opened, and reads as follows:

"The attention of the department has been called to many circulars and letters issued by persons connected with the postal service which contains erroneous statements, are not based on facts. The postal service is conducted in the interest of the public and the public is entitled to correct information at all times regarding this branch of the government service; and the department will gladly and willingly furnish such service in making any statement information. Employees of the postal about the postal establishment or its service who make false or slanderous statements will be summarily dismissed from the service. Postmasters and officers of the service will be held responsible for the enforcement of these instructions."

Postal employees readily see that although the avowed purpose is to give the public accurate information an analysis of this new rule and its practical application will show that it is in effect a gag as stringent as any that could have been devised. The warning is that employees who make false statements will be "summarily dismissed from the service." "Summarily" means without trial. If there is to be no trial, the Postmaster General or his designated subordinates will be the sole judges as to whether a postal employee has made false statements. In effect which reflects upon the administration of the postal service, such employee can be dismissed upon the allegation, without hearing, that his statement is false. The postmaster general or his designated agent becomes the prosecutor, the trial jury and the executioner all in one.

The promulgation of this "gag" rule on the first day of the new presidential campaign recalls the gag rule issued by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo immediately upon his accession to office. He issued an order forbidding any of the subordinates in his department to give out any information whatever regarding treasury affairs. This gag order applied to men as high in position as assistant secretary—men who had been accustomed to give out information concerning the affairs of their bureaus. The McAdoo gag rule aroused such a general protest among newspaper men and was so keenly resented by the assistant secretaries, that Mr. McAdoo was compelled to modify it.

The new Burleson "gag" rule will undoubtedly arouse protest among postal employees, but the protest will probably not be made publicly by any of those who desire to retain their connection with the postal service. The notice is given to the subordinates in language such as would be used by an autocrat.

Senator Harding attitude toward labor is attested by his record with the employees of his newspaper at Marion, Ohio. There has never been a strike in his shop, but that does not mean he believes in servilely acceding to every demand of labor. He was one of those who voted for the anti-strike clause of the Senate railroad bill.

"IT KEPT ME ON THE PAYROLL," HE SAYS

Terre Haute Man Was Ready To Give Up When He Began Taking Tanlac — Feels Fine Now and Sleeps Like a Child Every Night.

"If it had not been for Tanlac I don't believe I could have stayed on the payroll much longer," said Jacob C. Loudon, of 1836 Locust street, Terre Haute, Ind. Mr. Loudon has lived in Terre Haute for thirty years and has been an employee at the Standard Wheel Works for eighteen years.

"For seven years," continued Mr. Loudon, "I have been in very bad health. My stomach troubled me and I could eat but a few things that didn't nauseate me. My head ached so bad at times that it felt like it would burst and I got so nervous that I trembled like a leaf all the time. I could not sleep well and many a night was so restless that I would roll and twist and often had to get up and walk the floor.

"I lost strength and felt so bad that I couldn't half do my work at the shops. Last October I got to the point of almost giving up my job, but read in the papers about Tanlac, so thought I would try one more thing and I want to tell you that Tanlac helped me so much and so quickly that I didn't miss a single day from my work.

"Before I finished my second bottle I felt like a new man. My appetite came back and I could eat anything without having any trouble with my stomach. I never have a headache now and I sleep like a child every night. I have gained back all the weight that I lost and the boys at the shop are surprised at my quick recovery. Tanlac sure did the work for me and I will always say a good word for it. I advise anybody that is in the shape I was in to lose no time getting Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Rushville by F. B. Johnson Co., in Milroy by Dallas Copper, in Manilla by Geo. J. Inlow, in Arlington by Mrs. L. T. Davis, and in Carthage by Otto C. McCarty.—(Adv.)

Lyons and Moran at Mystic

How one little "white lie" will grow in magnitude, until it threatens to destroy the happiness of a newly married couple and a pair of engaged lovers, besides causing the bankruptcy of a business concern, forms the basis of "Everything But the Truth," the first comedy feature produced by Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran being shown at the Mystic theatre today.

Lyons and Moran have produced more successful one and two-reel comedies than any players on the screen. They are known to theatre-goers as the original exponents of "dressed-up comedy." The seven version of the amusing magazine story by Edgar Franklin, "Everything But the Truth," is said to possess a wealth of humor.

Eddie Lyons, as the young president of the oil company, about to be married to a pretty blonde, and Lee Moran, as a newly married young business man, are said to give comedy portrayals of which their past performances have been merely a promise.

They have surrounded themselves with a splendid company, chief among whom are Anne Cornwall as the young wife, Katherine Lewis as the jealous fiancée, Nelson McDowell as an escaped lunatic, Willis Marks as a faithful bookkeeper, and Elizabeth Witt as a meddling aunt.

Comedy Saturday at Princess

A new comedy picture starring Robert Warlick, "Jack Straw," will be the attraction at the Princess Theatre Saturday. It was adapted from W. Somerset Maugham's well-known stage play of the same name.

The central figure is Jack Straw an iceman, in love with Ethel Jennings, daughter of a hard-working clerk. The Jennings suddenly become rich and move to California. Jack Straw follows and shows up there as a waiter. Mrs. Jennings the mother, has a weakness for royalty. To revenge an alleged slight, an acquaintance of hers palms off Jack Straw on her at a big reception as the Archduke of Pomerania. Later, Jack Straw turns the tables by proving to be the real Duke.

The leading feminine role is played by the former musical comedy favorite and late entertainer of the A. E. F., Carroll McComas. It is her first motion picture venture, Sylvia Ashton. Charles Ogle, and J. M. Dumont are also in the cast. William De Mille directed the picture. It is a Paramount Artercraft.

ONE SUMMER NIGHT

I DO not think it is fair," said the Maple. "We wear green all summer, and look at the gay clothes our cousins, the flowers, wear!" "I have looked at them often and often," said the Chestnut tree, spreading out her branches to better see into the garden below.

The Oak tree said she, too, had often longed for a change of dress—"something dark and rich," she said. "I would choose if I could have a new one."

"And why should we not have new ones?" asked a pretty Beech tree. "I feel sure that some one could help us to get them if we only asked."

"But of whom could we ask such a favor?" said the Maple. "No one but the fairies could bring about such a change, but if I could change my dress I would not care for a plain color. I should choose gold and red."

The Maple rustled as she spoke, as if she were already dressed in her fine new clothes.

"Oh, I would choose to be dressed like my cousin Marigold in the garden," said the Chestnut tree. "I have always admired her color."

"I quite agree with your choice, my dear," said the Beech tree, "only I would choose the shade like the tall Sunflower which looks over the garden wall."

"But all this choosing of colors for our gowns does not get them," said the Maple, "and it seems to me that our sister Oak can help us, for does she not furnish the fairies and the goblins their cups? Everyone knows that acorns are fairly and goblin dishes."

The Sturdy Oak began to move. "I never thought of that," she said. "I'll ask this very night."

And she did, but the fairies told her they could do very little besides getting the goblins to listen to their request for Jack Frost kept all the fall shades up in his house in the North.

"You see," said the fairies, "you could not put on those gay colors when the flowers are in bloom because the green is needed to make the world beautiful, but we are sure that later in the season you could have your wish."

The Goblins listened to the trees and promised to see Jack Frost as soon as he was awake, and when the flowers went to sleep that season the trees were given their new clothes and there they stood all gay and beautiful like a huge bouquet, and every year since that time they have changed their dresses as soon as the flowers went to sleep.

"And to think that we wore those green clothes all that time," said the Maple, "when for the asking we were given these beautiful clothes—the very latest autumn colors."

But so proud were these trees in their new gowns that they rustled and shook themselves until all their gay leaves fell off, and though every year they think they will be more careful, their pride is so great they cannot stand still and when winter days come they are without a leaf to cover them. SHOULD BE STATE ENGINEER, LIEBER

Should Have Sufficient Staff To Study Drainage Problems and Stream Pollution

BILL TO BE PRESENTED

Says We Are in Danger and in Need of Legislation Which Will Investigate Stream Pollution

Indianapolis, Jul. 2—"There should be a state engineer with authority to act in an advisory capacity on drainage projects in order to obtain a practical and efficient drainage system in Indiana to supplant the unscientific method of procedure now in force," says Richard Lieber, director of conservation in Indiana. "The state engineer should be supplemented with sufficient staff to study drainage problems and stream pollution so as to give the most permanent results," he contends. A bill embodying the idea may be presented at the special session of the legislature.

"Hoosier streams are open sewers, carrying the waste and filth of numerous industries and cities," says Mr. Lieber. "Miles of our rivers are so polluted as to prohibit aquatic life and prevent the use of the water by citizens."

"The Department of Conservation when it can, investigates and ascertains the cause. In some cases it prosecutes with success. But the effect is temporary. We have neither the personnel nor the money to carry out a consistent and efficient campaign. The law under which we must act is insufficient and gives only temporary relief. When a violator is prosecuted we have insufficient men to keep watch to see that he does not return to his former practices."

"We are in great danger, and in great need of legislation which will make it possible to investigate thoroughly stream pollution in the state, to cooperate with those offenders who are willing and to prosecute those who are unwilling to reciprocate. The factory wastes can, in a larger number of cases, be utilized as a by-product at a profit, and in almost every case can be disposed of at small additional cost so as not to pollute the stream. The municipalities must see their duty and keep their waters clean."

Dr. J. E. Shannon of Marion Delivers Sermon at Coliseum in the City Park.

WILL BE BACK AGAIN SOON

Dr. J. E. Shannon of Marion, Ind., superintendent of the U. B. conference delivered the sermon at the revival meetings being conducted by the United Brethren in the Coliseum at the City Park.

A large crowd was present and listened very attentively to Dr. Shannon's logical and inspirational message on the theme, "Go Doing the Seemingly Impossible for Men and Women in Their Mental, Moral, Physical and Spiritual Life." He said that "the Holy Spirit stands at the door of every human life watching and waiting for an invitation to come in, but the latchstring is on the inside and will remain closed to all the transforming power of the Holy Spirit until opened from within."

Dr. Sannon plans to be in the meetings again soon and all those who failed to hear him last evening are urged not to miss the great opportunity to hear him when he addresses the meetings again.

The meetings will be held each afternoon and night of this week and next week.

what the profanity was, and I told him the word 'd-m' to which he replied that he did not give a 'd-m' about that but what he wanted was to get on the bottom of the affair.

I then told him that I would shave at seven o'clock and it was then 6:25 and would leave him 35 minutes. The reason of this was that I had been told as I came down town that Mr. Pea had promised or said, or let it be known, that he would twist my beard or mustache when he saw me.

Mr. Pea then departed with a final warning that if some one did not take back that article that he would indict some one, as he had proof that Doug had said that he took the wheel of his own accord.

Now I believe Mr. Pea to be a perfectly truthful man and I will accept his statement as to Doug's statement even if I didn't hear it. And I am very sorry that I did not hear it, and will ask the Republican to print this retraction as demanded by Mr. Pea, as I do not wish to be indicted.

The above is made to satisfy the demand by Mr. Pea for retraction. Signed, SAM FINNEY.

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.
A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

Trutona Proves Happy Medium in The Case of Little Fort Wayne Girl

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 1.—Few mothers are any happier today, than Mrs. W. E. Epsich, who lives in Fort Wayne at 122 Eureka Street, and who tells in the following statement of the benefits her little twelve-year old daughter derived through the use of Trutona. She says:

"My little, 12-year old daughter, Faustine, had been bothered with kidney trouble for several years, at least that was what the doctors pronounced it when she was six years old. Her kidneys were so weak that she seemed unable to control their action, especially at night. Her appetite was very poor, too."

"Trutona was recommended to us as being a remarkable remedy for the treatment of kidney trouble, and to my surprise it worked wonders in the case of my child. Why, my little daughter has been taking Trutona only a week now, but she's able to control the actions of her kidneys, and she certainly has a good appetite."

"The child says Trutona doesn't taste bad, but I suppose its because the medicine is helping her so much that she doesn't mind taking it. I'm certainly grateful for the benefits my little girl has derived from this wonderful medicine, and I want to make other mothers happy by recommending Trutona."

Trutona is sold in Rushville at Hargrove and Mullin's.—(Adv.)

CATALPAS ATTACKED BY CATIPILLARS

This is an Exceedingly Voracious Insect and it Will Completely Defoliate Trees in Short Time

SAYS STATE ETOMOLOGIST

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, July 2.—The catalpa sphinx, a smooth yellow caterpillar with black stripes running along its back, is again feasting on the leaves of the catalpa, according to reports from the state department of conservation today.

This is an exceedingly voracious insect and while the caterpillar is small at this season it will not be many week before it is two inches long according to the department.

It will completely defoliate the tree in a very short time. It can be eradicated if the affected trees are sprayed with arsenate of lead mixed with fifty gallons of water, according to state etomologist Wallace.

PRIORITY ORDER DENIED

Senator James E. Watson's Request is Refused

Bluffton, Ind., July 2.—A telegram which Mayor Frank Hunt of Bluffton received from Senator James E. Watson states that the Interstate Commerce Commission has refused to issue priority shipping orders for coal gas to gas companies. "Interstate Commerce Commission considers it unwise to issue priority shipping orders for coal gas to gas companies," saying the Senator's message. "Orders have been issued for immediate delivery of thirty thousand empty cars to mines. It is contemplated that delivery of these cars will greatly improve the situation."

"It is freely predicted that the city may either be entirely shut off from its gas supply or that consumers will be paying $2 per thousand in the very near future," says the Bluffton Banner.

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Calif., July 2.—The democratic platform was submitted to the party's national convention today by Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, chairman of the resolutions committee.

Its outstanding features are:

1—Complete silence upon the wet and dry question.

2—Emphatic endorsement of the league of nations covenant with a demand for prompt ratification without nullifying reservations, but with an expression of willingness to accept reservations, clarifying the covenant or making it more specific with respect to American obligations.

3—A simple expression of sympathy for the Irish aspirants without reference to American recognition.

4—Rejection of the amended plank recommending the acceptance by the United States of the mandate for Armenia.

5—Pledges of support for American veterans of the world war in the form of memorials and homes but no promise of money bonuses.

6—Strong points on labor, agriculture, the interests of women and women's suffrage.

The platform was probably in thorough accordance with President Wilson's views excepting on the league of nations and the Armenian mandate.

Commendation of the league of nations covenant coupled with condemnation of the republican attitude was so sweeping, the administration leader declared that Sen. Walsh's

BRYAN, HOBSON PLAN FIGHT FOR DRY PLANK

Meet Beneath Rostrum While Secretary Glass Reads Platform to Convention Today

THEIR COURSE UNDECIDED

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Calif., July 2.—While Senator Glass today read to the democratic convention the platform submitted by the resolutions committee, William Jennings Bryan and Richmond P. Hobson, dry leaders, conferred beneath the rostrum on plans for the final plank fight on the convention floor.

It is understood that the dry strategy now provides that Hobson will not offer an amendment to the report of the resolutions committee against a possible substitute from the opposing camp. It was expected that Bryan then would offer a substitute for Hobson's amendment, one of his own embodying a bone dry plank. It was understood that Bryan was prepared to speak for one hour on the dry demands.

Bryan indicated following the convention that he would be guided by the situation at the moment and that he might finally decide to offer a minority report if it appeared a better plan.

BULLETIN

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Calif., July 2.—Following Glass' conclusion of the reading of the platform, the chair then recognized William Jennings Bryan. The crowd was insistent and yelled "Bryan, Bryan."

Senator Robinson and Glass stood on the platform joking with each other and waited for the noise to cease.

Glass then moved adoption without modification of the committee's report.

The chair then recognized Bryan.

Bryan walked to the rostrum with eyes gleaming. The galleries cheered riotously but there was no noise or excitement among the delegates.

Bryan waited for the noise to cease.

"Ladies and Gentlemen," Bryan began.

"You have listened to one of the strongest platforms ever placed before the country by any convention in the nation's history. It is clear in statement and does credit to those responsible for drafting it. Fifty-two members of the resolutions committee met and for many hours compared views and exchanged opinions.

"Never for a moment disagreeing in the purpose that brought me together. One thought, however, rose above all others. That was, 'How can we bring success to the only party that is capable of meeting the exigencies of the present hours.'"

"If we had not been democrats we might have been afraid to express our individual opinion. The democrats are expected to think and then give their conferees the results of their thinking. In these conferences we usually reach some common cause. When we can agree we rejoice. When we cannot we respect each other's opinion.

"I cannot indorse all written in this platform."

Then cries of "take it all" and "take a drink of water" arose from the crowd.

NONE IS ABLE TO WIN WITHOUT HELP

Not a Single Democratic Candidate
For President Can Be Nominated
on Present Line-up.

McADOO IS EXPECTED TO LEAD

Attorney General Palmer is Picked
as a Close Second and Gov.
Cox a Poor Third.

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Calif., July 2.—With the business of selecting a democratic presidential nominee finally in sight, developments revealed that none of the candidates has sufficient strength to win unaided.

From a reliable source it was learned that the best William G. McAdoo can possibly do is to roll up on the first ballot a vote of 600, more than 100 short of a choice.

Attorney General Palmer is expected to attain a maximum individual strength around 500 and Governor Cox about 400.

These figures are overlapping because a great amount of the second choice of each of the leading candidates is held by the other two and none may obtain his full quota of delegates until one or both of his principal rivals have begun to lose ground.

Political observers believe that McAdoo would lead from the first ballot with Palmer a close second and Cox a poor third.

Each is expected to increase their vote until the sixth ballot when it is expected that Attorney General Palmer would reach his limit.

W. G. McADOO

Mr. McAdoo is expected to lead on the first ballot cast for president at the democratic national convention in San Francisco.

THREE CENT TRACTION FAIR GOES IN EFFECT

I. & C. Passenger Rate, Granted by
Public Service Commission,
Same as Steam Roads.

AN INCREASE OF A FEW CENTS

The new passenger rates on the Indianapolis and Cincinnati traction line went into effect yesterday, the company having been granted a three cent a mile rate a few weeks ago by the Public Service Commission of Indiana, along with two other Indiana electric lines. The increase brings the three companies on a parity with the steam lines.

Under the new rates no round trip tickets are sold, and the fare between Rushville and Indianapolis is $1.29 each way, or an increase of eight cents. The new fare between here and Connersville is 56 cents, or an increase of four cents. Heretofore the three traction companies had based their fare on a 2 and 1 cents a mile basis.

The I. & C. rate and the C. I. & W. railroad between here and Indianapolis are now the same at $1.29 but between here and Connersville the steam line is 58 cents, or two cents higher than the electric line.

Quincy Buckner this morning filed suit for divorce from Mary Buckner, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment, in that his wife had become cold and distant toward him, and was guilty of associating with Elwood Watkins, who was a boarder at their home. The two parties are residents of Carthage and are colored people. They have been married, according to the complaint for 26 years.

The state of Indiana on relation of Mary M. Pattison, filed suit against Clyde Pattison, asking for support of a child, born prior to their marriage whom the defendant is alleged to have abandoned.

FINNEY EXPLAINS BICYCLE INCIDENT

Dealer Confirms Story That he Called on "Doug" Driver to Re-
turn his Wheel

HAD TO APPLY TO THE MAYOR

Says Driver Told Him Policeman
Pea Said He Could Have It—
Accepts Pea's Version

Sam Finney, proprietor of a bicycle shop, whose bicycle was taken by Clarence (Doug) Driver and was recovered after Mr. Finney appealed to Mayor Irvin, today issued a statement in which he explained the circumstances and confirmed the story printed in the Daily Republican yesterday evening.

Policeman Pea, who was alleged to have told Driver that he could have the bicycle, demanded a retraction from Mr. Finney, declaring it appeared that he had stolen the bicycle. Appended to the statement was an explanation of the incident by Mr. Finney.

"I lose a bicycle from in front of my store," he says. "I hear Clarence Driver (hereafter called Doug) has it. I make a demand for the wheel of Doug. Doug refuses, stating that Mr. Pea told him he could have it. I apply to the mayor and the wheel is returned. Mr. Pea and Mr. Wilfong with Doug call on me. The Republican prints the incident as they hear it. Mr. Pea calls on me and demands a retraction. I try to make a proper retraction."

July 1, 1920
Rushville, Ind.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Charley Pea called on me at my place of business shortly after six o'clock on the above date and wanted to know if I gave the Republican the account published in it. I told him that he would have to get a paper and let me see the article.

After reading the article I told him that it was about right as I remembered and understood the affairs, with the exception of the last few lines in which it stated that the officers wanted him to tell certain things.

Mr. Pea then said that Doug told me (when the police and Doug called on me) that he, (Doug) took the wheel of his own accord and that he had proof of it as he had brought Mr. Wilfong along for that purpose.

Doug may have said so but if he did I did not hear it or did not understand it so, which I told Mr. Pea and reminded him that Doug had in the same statement or conversation stated that it was for turning out the lights.

Mr. Pea stated that Doug had never turned out the lights but had helped turn them on; that Doug was a half-wit and that his word was no good and that he was not responsible that he could not even be convicted if he committed murder; that the article in the paper made him (Pea) responsible and he wanted it understood that he (Mr. Pea) was no thief; that if the statement was not retracted tomorrow that he would file an indictment against some one the following day.

At this time I had to call Mr. Pea about profanity and he asked me

DENY CHARGE OF HEALTH INSPECTOR

Says Havens Tries to Throw
Business to Others

DIDN'T POSE AS INSPECTORS

Frank Wallace and Charles Dixon the two men who were accused by Frank Havens, city health inspector, of having posed as health inspectors in order to compel property owners to have unsanitary vaults cleaned today denied the accusation, and declared that Inspector Havens had told them that he did not give the story to the Republican, as printed yesterday.

When confronted by a Republican reporter today, Mr. Havens did not deny being authority for the story, but said that Dixon and Wallace did not clean properly the vault which was mentioned yesterday until after the story appeared in the Republican last night.

Dixon and Wallace asserted that Havens was trying to throw all of the business to Will West, who recently moved here from Greensburg, and that he made the statement to the Republican to injure them. They stated that they had been in the business for ten or twelve years and that no complaints had ever been made regarding their work.

"KATCHA-KOO" IS PRONOUNCED BEST

Oriental Production, To be Repeated
Tonight, Sets New Mark For
Home Talent Shows

THE AUDITORIUM IS CROWDED

Minor Characters Play Parts Equally
as Well as Principals—Play
Moves Like Clock Work

Anyone in Rushville who missed their last chance tonight to attend "Katcha-Koo," will miss a rare treat.

The first performance last night in the Graham Annex brought out more praise than any home talent show given in this city for many years. People in fact were more pleased, because it was far above the average home talent production.

In all over 250 people had part in the play, the minor characters playing their parts equally as well as the principals, with everything going off like clock-work, and without a single hitch.

Katcha-Koo, (Lee Endres) was an immovable being, who brought terror to all of his followers, and wrought curses upon any who touched or slandered him. They called him a holy fakir and his followers and people were afraid of his curses.

With this scene laid in India, there appears two American explorers, Dick and Harry, (Denning Havens and John K. Tompkins) and a terrible mess is stirred up when the Maharajah of Hunga (Bob Gilsey) condemns them to be poisoned and thrown to the lions because they had interfered with the sacred Katcha-Koo.

In a state of despair the two Americans seek help from Solejah, a widow of a wizard, (Lavenna Compton), who tells them that there is only one way to get out of the clutches of Katcha-Koo, and she produces a bag of mystic clothes, when worn by a person they may be commanded to do anything.

The two Americans take the garments and the immovable Katcha-Koo is transformed from a stationary object into a lively American, talkative and abounding in his love for the women. The mystic clothes, with the bright red vest, had done the work.

Before the play had proceeded very far this affections for all of the women, including the four wives of the Maharajah, Mrs. Chatti-Gadden, an American widow, (Katherine Wyatt) and her two daughters, (Mary Jane Carr and Gladys Bennett) and several others, was a worry, and his manner of shaking the men and luring the women was one of much annoyance for the men.

In the second act the scene was shifted to America, with all of the Oriental characters, and the sentences of the Maharajah was still upon them, because Katcha-Koo had overdone the thing. To release them from the punishment of the poison and lions the two Americans would have to put Katcha-Koo back into his former stationary state.

The manner in which this was attempted was full of laughter and funny incidents, as the bright red vest was thought to be responsible for his actions, and it was the plot to get the vest from him.

When the vest was removed, it was found that Katcha-Koo was a holy fakir in disguise, and was recognized by his wife, Mrs. Chatti-Gadden the American widow.

It would be impossible to do the play justice and it would tend to spoil many surprises that the people tonight will receive when they attend the show, if the plot were all revealed.

The music and songs were well carried out, and the best vocal talent in the city took part, both in solo work and in the choruses.

The dances too, which were in every scene, showed perfect practice and won the most hearty applause from the audience. A group of dancers, featuring Alice Slaght of Denver, Colo., was among the prettiest dances.

The grand finale was superb, with over 250 characters on the stage, with the front row lines across over 50 small children, centered

a motor car that would combine light weight, economy and comfort? Light in weight, but also comfortable riding. Light weight means economy in a motor car if the construction is right. The car, however, that is of the weight that makes for economy and is also easy riding is the exception. The

Gagging Postal Employees

An attempt to establish "gag" rule is the interpretation which postal employees have placed upon a notice which has been posted in federal buildings throughout the country. The notice was posted on June 12, the day the political campaign was really opened, and reads as follows:

"The attention of the department has been called to many circulars and letters issued by persons connected with the postal service which contains erroneous statements, are not based on facts. The postal service is conducted in the interest of the public and the public is entitled to correct information at all times regarding this branch of the government service; and the department will gladly and willingly furnish such service in making any statement information. Employees of the postal about the postal establishment or its service who make false or slanderous statements will be summarily dismissed from the service. Postmasters and officers of the service will be held responsible for the enforcement of these instructions."

Postal employees readily see that although the avowed purpose is to give the public accurate information an analysis of this new rule and its practical application will show that it is in effect a gag as stringent as any that could have been devised. The warning is that employees who make false statements will be "summarily dismissed from the service. 'Summarily' means without trial, if there is to be no trial, the Postmaster General or his designated subordinates will be the sole judges as to whether a postal employee has made false statements. In effect which reflects upon the administration of the postal service, such employee can be dismissed upon the allegation, without hearing, that his statement is false. The postmaster general or his designated agent becomes the prosecutor, the trial jury and the executioner all in one.

The promulgation of this "gag" rule on the first day of the new presidential campaign recalls the gag rule issued by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo immediately upon his accession to office. He issued an order forbidding any of the subordinates in his department to give out any information whatever regarding treasury affairs. This gag order applied to men as high in position as assistant secretary—men who had been accustomed to give out information concerning the affairs of their bureaus. The McAdoo gag rule aroused such a general protest among newspaper men and was so keenly resented by the assistant secretaries, that Mr. McAdoo was compelled to modify it.

The new Burleson "gag" rule will undoubtedly arouse protest among postal employees, but the protest will probably not be made publicly by any of those who desire to retain their connection with the postal service. The notice is given to the subordinates in language such as would be used by an autocrat.

Senator Harding attitude toward labor is attested by his record with the employees of his newspaper at Marion, Ohio. There has never been a strike in his shop, but that does not mean he believes in servilely acceding to every demand of labor. He was one of those who voted for the anti-strike clause of the Senate railroad bill.

Glenn E. Plumb has invested $25,000 in a palatial home at Chevy Chase, a fashionable suburb of Washington. Apparently Mr. Plumb's vigorous advocacy of economic fallacies keeps his pockets well filled, which may convince him that their adoption would do the same for everybody else.

"IT KEPT ME ON THE PAYROLL," HE SAYS

Terre Haute Man Was Ready To Give Up When He Began Taking Tanlac — Feels Fine Now and Sleeps Like a Child Every Night.

"If it had not been for Tanlac I don't believe I could have stayed on the payroll much longer," said Jacob C. Loudon, of 1836 Locust street, Terre Haute, Ind. Mr. Loudon has lived in Terre Haute for thirty years and has been an employee at the Standard Wheel Works for eighteen years.

"For seven years," continued Mr. Loudon, "I have been in very bad health. My stomach troubled me and I could eat but a few things that didn't nauseate me. My head ached so bad at times that it felt like it would burst and I got so nervous that I trembled like a leaf all the time. I could not sleep well and many a night was so restless that I would roll and twist and often had to get up and walk the floor. "I lost strength and I felt as if I couldn't half do my work at the shops. Last October I got to the point of almost giving up my job, but read in the papers about Tanlac, so thought I would try one more thing and I want to tell you that Tanlac helped me so much and so quickly that I didn't miss a single day from my work.

"Before I finished my second bottle I felt like a new man. My appetite came back and I could eat anything without having any trouble with my stomach. I never have a headache now, and I sleep like a child every night. I have gained back all the weight that I lost and the boys at the shop are surprised at my quick recovery. Tanlac sure did the work for me and I will always say a good word for it. I advise anybody that is in the shape I was in to lose no time getting Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Rushville by F. B. Johnson Co., in Milroy by Dallas Copper, in Manilla by Geo. J. Lalow, in Arlington by Mrs. L. T. Davis, and in Carthage by Otto C. McCarty. (Adv.)

Lyons and Moran at Mystic

How one little "white lie" will grow in magnitude, until it threatens to destroy the happiness of a newly married couple and a pair of engaged lovers, besides causing the bankruptcy of a business concern, forms the basis of "Everything But the Truth," the first comedy feature produced by Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran being shown at the Mystic theatre today.

Lyons and Moran have produced more successful one and two-reel comedies than any players on the screen. They are known to theatre-goers as the original exponents of "dressed-up comedy." The screen version of the amusing magazine story by Edgar Franklin, "Everything But the Truth," is said to possess a wealth of humor.

Eddie Lyons, as the young president of the oil company, about to be married to a pretty blonde, and Lee Moran, as a newly married young business man, are said to give comedy portrayals of which their past performances have been merely a promise.

They have surrounded themselves with a splendid company, chief among whom are Anne Cornwall as the young wife, Katherine Lewis as the jealous fiancée, Nelson McDowell as an escaped lunatic, Willis Marks as a faithful bookkeeper, and Elizabeth Witt as a meddling aunt.

Comedy Saturday at Princess

A new comedy picture starring Robert Warrick, "Jack Straw," will be the attraction at the Princess Theatre Saturday. It was adapted from W. Somerset Maugham's well-known stage play of the same name.

The central figure is Jack Straw an iceman, in love with Ethel Jennings, daughter of a hard-working clerk. The Jennings suddenly become rich and move to California. Jack Straw follows and shows up there as a waiter. Mrs. Jennings the mother, has a weakness for royalty. To revenge an alleged slight, an acquaintance of hers palms off Jack Straw on her at a big reception at the Archduke of Pomerania. Later, Jack Straw turns the tables by proving to be the real Duke.

The leading feminine role is played by the former musical comedy favorite and late entertainer of the A. E. F., Carroll McComas. It is her first motion picture venture, Sylvia Ashton, Charles Ogle, and J. M. Dumont are also in the cast. William De Mille directed the picture. It is a Paramount Artcraft.

RED STAR

Detroit Vapor Oil Stove

The perfection of the "Red Star" made possible for the first time the use of kerosene or other cheap oils without the aid of wicks or substitutes for wicks. It made possible a complete vaporization of all the heat units of oil and increased heating efficiency over thirty per cent.

The "Red Star" is really a gas range. It produces its own gas from any grade of liquid fuel. It increases heating efficiency over thirty per cent.

Competent, official judges and countless housewives have proclaimed it to be the most efficient and economical oil stove ever offered to American women.

Woman Thinks She Can't Talk Enough

"I had gall stones for 14 years and suffered severely from gas, colic and indigestion. ONE SUMMER NIGHT

"I DO not think it is fair," said the Maple. "We wear green all summer, and look at the gay clothes our cousins, the flowers, wear!" "I have looked at them often and often," said the Chestnut tree, spreading out her branches to better see into the garden below. The Oak tree said she, too, had often longed for a change of dress—"something dark and rich," she said. "I would choose if I could have a new one."

"And why should we not have new ones?" asked a pretty Beech tree. "I feel sure that some one could help us to get them if we only asked." "But of whom could we ask such a favor?" said the Maple. "No one but the fairies could bring about such a change, but if I could change my dress I would not care for a plain color. I should choose gold and red."

The Maple rustled as she spoke, as if she were already dressed in her fine new clothes.

SHOULD BE STATE ENGINEER, LIEBER

Should Have Sufficient Staff To Study Drainage Problems and Stream Pollution

BILL TO BE PRESENTED

Says We Are in Danger and in Need of Legislation Which Will Investigate Stream Pollution

Indianapolis, July 2.—"There should be a state engineer with authority to act in an advisory capacity on drainage projects in order to obtain a practical and efficient drainage system in Indiana to supplant the unscientific method of procedure now in force," says Richard Lieber, director of conservation in Indiana. "The state engineer should be supplemented with sufficient staff to study drainage problems and stream pollution so as to give the most permanent results," he contends. A bill embodying the idea may be presented at the special session of the legislature.

"Hoosier streams are open sewers, carrying the waste and filth of numerous industries and cities," says Mr. Lieber. "Miles of our rivers are so polluted as to prohibit aquatic life and prevent the use of the water by citizens."

"The Department of Conservation when it can, investigates and ascertains the cause. In some cases it prosecutes with success. But the effect is temporary. We have neither the personnel nor the money to carry out a consistent and efficient campaign. The law under which we must act is insufficient and gives only temporary relief. When a violator is prosecuted we have insufficient men to keep watch to see that he does not return to his former practices."

"We are in great danger and in great need of legislation which will make it possible to investigate thoroughly stream pollution in the state, to cooperate with those offenders who are willing and to prosecute those who are unwilling to reciprocate. The factory wastes can, in a larger number of cases, be utilized as a by-product at a profit, and in almost every case can be disposed of at small additional cost so as not to pollute the stream. The municipalities must see their duty and keep their waters clean."

U. B. CONFERENCE HEAD PREACHES AT REVIVAL

Dr. J. E. Shannon of Marion Delivers Sermon at Coliseum in the City Park.

WILL BE BACK AGAIN SOON

Dr. J. E. Shannon of Marion, Ind., superintendent of the U. B. conference delivered the sermon at the revival meetings being conducted by the United Brethren in the Coliseum at the City Park. A large crowd was present and listened very attentively to Dr. Shannon's logical and inspirational message on the theme, "Go Doing the Seeming Impossible for Men and Women in Their Mental, Moral, Physical and Spiritual Life." He said that "the Holy Spirit stands at the door of every human life watching and waiting for an invitation to come in, but the latchstring is on the inside and will remain closed to all the transforming power of the Holy Spirit until opened from within."

Dr. Shannon plans to be in the meetings again soon and all those who failed to hear him last evening are urged not to miss the great opportunity to hear him when he addresses the meetings again. The meetings will be held each afternoon and night of this week and next week.

What the profanity was, and I told him the word 'd-m' to which he replied that he did not give a 'd-m' about that but what he wanted was to get on the bottom of the affair.

I then told him that I would shave at seven o'clock and it was then 6:25 and would leave him 35 minutes. The reason of this was that I had been told as I came down town that Mr. Pea had promised or said, or left it be known, that he would twist my beard or mustache when he saw me.

Mr. Pea then departed with a final warning that if some one did not take back that article that he would indict some one, as he had proof that Doug had said that he took the wheel of his own accord.

Now I believe Mr. Pea to be a perfectly truthful man and I will accept his statement as to Doug's statement even if I didn't hear it. And I am very sorry that I did not hear it, and will ask the Republican to print this retraction as demanded by Mr. Pea, as I do not wish to be indicted.

The above is made to satisfy the demand by Mr. Pea for retraction. Signed, SAM FINNEY.

What Kills A Storage Battery

IF YOU let a windmill tank become nearly empty repeatedly the staves will soon fall to pieces. Exhausting a storage battery below the danger point repeatedly has a similar effect on the battery plates. A Matthews plant does not permit this. Long before they are exhausted to the danger point, the "Automatic" batteries automatically start the generator recharging and stop it automatically when the batteries are full.

MATTHEWS

ELECTRIC LIGHT

AND POWER PLANTS

protect an overloaded battery against heating by automatically taking ALL the load on the generator. But if the generator can't carry it all, the batteries automatically "cut in" again and both bear the burden. The plant cost less than this is NOT Full Automatic and is out of date the day it is installed.

Matthews rating is based on generator capacity. ALWAYS, batteries being a reserve supply.

Doesn't hurt a bit, and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

Child's Change for the Better Pleases Mother

Trutona Proves Happy Medium in The Case of Little Fort Wayne Girl

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 1.—Few mothers are any happier today than Mrs. W. E. Epsich, who lives in Fort Wayne at 122 Eureka Street, and who tells in the following statement of the benefits her little twelve-year old daughter derived through the use of Trutona. She says:

"My little 12-year old daughter, Faustine, had been bothered with kidney trouble for several years, at least that was what the doctors pronounced it when she was six years old. Her kidneys were so weak that she seemed unable to control their action, especially at night. Her appetite was very poor, too."

"Trutona was recommended to us as being a remarkable remedy for the treatment of kidney trouble, and to my surprise it worked wonders in the case of my child. Why, my little daughter has been taking Trutona only a week now, but she's able to control the actions of her kidneys, and she certainly has a good appetite."

"The child says, Trutona doesn't taste bad, but I suppose its because the medicine is helping her so much that she doesn't mind taking it. I'm certainly grateful for the benefits my little girl has derived from this wonderful medicine, and I want to make other mothers happy by recommending Trutona."

Trutona is sold in Rushville at Hargrove and Mullin's.—(Adv.)

CATALPAS ATTACKED BY CATIPILLARS

This is an Exceedingly Voracious Insect and it Will Completely Defoliate Trees in Short Time

SAYS STATE ETOMOLOGIST

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, July 2.—The catalpa, a smooth, yellow, leafy tree with black stripes running along its back, is again feasting on the leaves of the catalpa, according to reports from the state department of conservation today.

This is an exceedingly voracious insect and while the caterpillar is small at this season it will not be many weeks before it is two inches long according to the department.

It will completely defoliate the tree in a very short time. It can be eradicated if the affected trees are sprayed with arsenate of lead mixed with fifty gallons of water, according to state entomologist Wallace.

PRIORITY ORDER DENIED

Senator James E. Watson's Request is Refused

Bluffton, Ind., July 2.—A telegram which Mayor Frank Hunt of Bluffton received from Senator James E. Watson states that the Interstate Commerce Commission has refused to issue priority shipping orders for coal gas to gas companies. "Interstate Commerce Commission considers it unwise to issue priority shipping orders for coal gas to gas companies," saying the Senator's message. "Orders have been issued for immediate delivery of thirty thousand empty cars to mines. It is contemplated that delivery of these cars will greatly improve the situation."

"It is freely predicted that the city may either be entirely shut off from its gas supply or that consumers will be paying $2 per thousand in the very near future," says the Bluffton Banner.
